

A Note from The Breathing Life

"It takes a community to raise a dream"

We've all heard it said, "It takes a village to raise a child." I've also learned that it takes a community to raise a dream, and I believe that's what we're doing here on the planet and right here through AHAA. We are raising a very powerful vision together and it's gaining momentum swiftly. That's the power of love, that's the power of community.

This is the first installment of "A Note From The Breathing Life." I will be staying linked in community with you through this column. I'm very excited about the energy I experienced in the community and am guided to join you monthly in person, while still living in Colorado.

The Guides say that the network of energy and blend of practitioners in your community carries a cohesive tapestry that is rare and palpable. I feel a devotion to help blossom the love in all of us to bring our dreams and the dream of AHAA to life. So, I'll be there one week each month offering programs as Guidance indicates to help propel these dreams forward.

To that end, I'd like to share some thoughts on what community means to me. First off, my attention goes directly to the collection of teachers and guides surrounding me, a community in Spirit! I believe we all have such a community, a "Soul Team" assisting us. We have boundless love escorting us in to our greatness. We have a community of spiritual helpers in the ethers. I love working with them!

My guides told me years ago that we have pre-arranged agreements with other souls both embodied and not, and that there is a time and place to call awake those significant others who are already a part of our own becoming. At that time I received a 3 day transmission on a body of work I was to bring out and teach. It's called "Soul Centered Wealth". I was shown some pretty cool stuff, but I wasn't sure if it was really just for me. It was a synthesis of all the best tools and practices I'd been shown from "within", choreographed in to a training program to empower others to access their deepest guidance, map out their soul / life plan, and actualize their calling.

What did I do with this body of work? I got scared! I had fear and doubt take over with a healthy dose of unworthiness. I promised the Guides however that I'd take it out in the world and try it out on others. I lived it. I called in the souls who were ready to show up for "testing" this work. They did the program with continued success. I test marketed it for two years and it flew. I learned to trust the program completely, and not just for my own use. This was the gift of community.

Through community I found the confidence to bring to the world what Spirit gave me. Isn't this usually the case? We stumble on trusting ourselves and what we have to offer....until we don't? When we stop being afraid, we soar. By the way, it went so well I got scared again and put it in my closet for another year pretending it didn't exist.

In June 2010 at Mt. Shasta, I called in my new Soul Family. I had no idea that calling was to lead me to the Auburn area or AHAA. I marvel at the mystery of it all. I do believe Infinite Spirit knows what it's doing but it still blows my mind. At the end of the last Breath workshop in AHmbiance, we sat in a sharing circle. I still picture the love on everyone's face in my heart and mind. What radiance, softness and true self-seeing there was. I remember feeling deeply moved to ask everyone to keep THAT awake. That openness was where the truth of love showered on everyone. That's the community I see there.

How did we get to be connected in the community of AHAA? The passion and vision of Deborah Nickel, who I fondly refer to as "Queen Bee," has blessed us with her courage to give herself her own dream! As she made that choice, a community was born and now we are finding family and friends event by event. How beautiful to allow others to share in our callings. Look at the ripple effect!

The Guides are wanting me to propose this question to all of us, "What am I bringing to this community? What are my gifts?" As I take a breath, I feel my calling and would like to share it with you.

I will offer programs and private sessions that provide life-long benefit. It's what I love to do. I've travelled the U.S. (and abroad) for 20 years doing this. I've been guided to contribute to growing spiritual communities by offering the work Spirit gives me to do. I've seen hundreds of clients become clear about their path as well as their deservedness to claim it. Witnessing this miracle, I learned to trust more and more that life can be truly amazing, even with its challenges. Some even trained in my work and then started their own clientele. Imagine that!

What I've seen in the last 20 years is that so many of us feel good in turning and giving a hand to those coming up right behind us. We also are inspired to pay it forward and let the blessings expand. Through this kind of loving, dreams are born, yours mine and everyone's in time.

When we invite our etheric communities to the mix, when we ask our angels to go to work on our behalf and invite our Soul Family to appear...it's practically a fact...there is sure to be miracle after miracle and wonders never cease.

I believe my guides when they tell me that this is a powerful community. I feel it, and I looked in to your eyes when I was there. I'm excited to see you again, to swim in the love and play in our tender human body suits.

And yes, I gave up the fear, took Soul Centered Wealth out of the closet and plan to offer it through AHAA in March.

Showers of Blessings,

Danae Shanti,

www.TheBreathingLife.com

P.S. When I started writing I thought I was going to tell fun stories I have about community. I guess I'll just have to share those in person when I'm there! OK, here are some story titles, how about reminding me to share them with you? Locked in the Bathroom. Japan and the Great Circle of Life. Sundance in Montana. The Grace Story. Direct meeting with the Ascended Masters at Mt. Shasta. These are just to get us warmed up ☺.